

Report for visit to Newton Mearns Baptist Church on 28th April 2018.

The outline for the Itinerary was as follows:

07:15: Sandy Muirhead & Ramone McKenzie left Dunfermline and drove to Newton Mearns arriving at 08:25 where they were met by Michael Healy and Derek Hopper.

08:30: the car was unloaded and a book stall set up in the main foyer – a very good spot for people passing by.

We were invited to Newton Mearns Baptist Church for the ‘Christian Men Together’ gathering. This year the apologist, John Lennox was the principal speaker. We were given an opportunity to sell books, create awareness of Precept Ministries Scotland, make new contacts and finally sign people up for our upcoming training day on May 12th.

Photographs for the day.

This was our stand for the event which was situated in the main foyer area

Sandy explaining the importance of the inductive method.

Michael helping someone with the concept of inductive study and what to actually buy in his case.

All in all this was a very useful day. We were able to create awareness of Precept Ministries Scotland and to plug the upcoming training session in Kirkintilloch, which is fairly close to where CMT was held.

We were given a 5 minute slot in the programme after lunch to talk about Precept, and both Sandy and Michael did a very good job of telling the men present about the ministry and what we do.

Quite a lot of interest was shown in the training day, as we distributed flyers to over 200 men before the presentation. Hopefully this will yield a good return.

After 12th May, our next scheduled event will be the Refuel National Gathering in July.
